

S-DEVCORP

Commercial and Industrial Real Estate Development and Sales

June 12, 2002

Richard Young
Young Fine Art Studio
602 West, South Temple
Salt Lake City, Utah 84104

Dear Richard:

Below are brief descriptions/comments about the two pieces of art you completed on a contract basis for me:

"PORTER ROCKWELL" SCULPTURE

I was creating a business center in Utah which needed a distinctive attention drawing main feature. Richard and Lena helped me develop a very realistic sculpture of Porter Rockwell. They researched the time period, dress, and "perceived" personality of the bounty hunter. The sculpture turned out wonderful and now presides on a very prominent place over seeing and "protecting" the park. Truly a fantastic piece!

"LAST COOKIE" SCULPTURE

After having commissioned a sculpture of Porter Rockwell from Richard and Lena, my wife thought it would be great to have bookends of my daughters. The bookends evolved into a life size sculpture of the girls. The likeness is remarkable. They captured the perfect expressions of both children, as well as, actually measuring their physical features. As the girls are aging it is wonderful to have them "forever" at a young age and in a realistic pose of their childhood.

Thanks to you and Lena again for such a wonderful experience. Not often do you get more than expected when doing a contract art project. Both of you are terrific and make a great team.

Sincerely,

Mike Stangl